

TODD JUSTICE

Comedian

Bio

"Total World Domination" ... the driving force behind this hilarious big Texan! For eight years, Comedy Justice has been served up on a golden plate of mock sarcasm and agony. Todd takes each misery of life and makes it unbearably funny, with one-liners flying left and right. After two years in the Air Force, then selling appliances and failing as a musician, he stumbled upon comedy. By that time, he had plenty of material. In January of 2004, he released his debut comedy cd, "AND JUSTICE FOR Y'ALL." The disc has garnered rave reviews and national airplay on both XM, Sirius, AllComedy and Comedy101 radio. Later that same year, he was able to bring his own brand of laughter to the US troops across Europe and Asia, and recently to the Middle East. Justice has appeared on TV's "Family Feud", Ed McMahon's NextBigStar, and his left ear has even appeared as an extra on the short-lived series "LAX". Unstoppable, he continues his comedic quest to conquer the world!
